The 16th European Bioplastics Conference is approaching with great strides, and EUBP is excited to welcome you on 30 November and 1 December 2021 in Berlin or online. The hybrid format of this year's event will allow you to either join in person at the MOA Hotel Berlin, offering fantastic networking opportunities, or comfortably log-in from your home base. Secure your delegate pass today and be part of the leading conference of the international bioplastics community.

Conference attendees can look forward to a variety of speakers from politics, stakeholders, science and organisations. Check out the sneak preview of our programme to get an idea of what to expect at the conference.

If you would like to organize for your company to have a branded presence in the exhibition hall, become an official sponsor_of the event, or simply secure your places at the conference early on – please get in touch with Denise Valdix via conference\(at\)european-bioplastics.org. We look forward to hearing from you!
